Physician elected foundation president

Dr. P. Scott McLean, Jr. to lead hospital foundation

KETCHUM, ID (February 13, 2009) –Dr. P. Scott McLean, Jr. has been named the new president of St. Luke's Wood River Foundation's Board of Directors.

A board certified internist, McLean brings more than 34 years of experience in the medical profession. He has a deep personal commitment to fund raising for the hospital, serving on the foundation board for four years. He takes over for Martha Reed, who served three terms as the foundation's president and will remain on the foundation board.

“Physician leadership is integral to helping improve healthcare experiences in our community. Dr. McLean is incredibly committed to positively changing the future of our hospital and community health,” said Hilary Furlong, the foundation's executive director.

Joining Dr. McLean to lead the foundation board are Megan Edwards, serving as vice president; Marybeth Flower, as secretary; and Dr. Pat McLaughlin, as treasurer.

The board, inspired by generous and visionary gifts, recently refined the Foundation's mission and vision to better reflect how it puts the community's contributions to work.

As the Foundation moves forward, it will work towards its mission to “accelerate the advancement of innovative programs and services that fundamentally improve healthcare experiences in our community.”
